

Notice to Subscribers.

Subscribers to the Daily Gazette who do not receive their paper regularly, will confer a favor by reporting corrections promptly at the Gazette's printing room.

LOCAL MATTERS.

Fresh oysters at Evenson & Parker's. "Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

Oysters served as you like them at Evenson & Parker's.

For Bait—House nearly new, fronting on fourth ward park—with, or without barn. L. B. Corning.

Fresh oysters at Evenson & Parker's every one warranted.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's. For Sale.

With the view of leaving the city, Spencer Phelps is now offering to dispose of his shop, tools, etc., and assign to the purchaser a good paying and well established business. The shop is now located on River street, near the post office, dimensions 30x60 feet. Upper floor used for a residence. Shop on first floor. Well calculated for any ordinary business.

CAMPBELL & KLEINVELTER.

A full line of the celebrated Pearl Shirts at Fitcher's. Try one, it will please you.

Slates, crayons, writing paper, black board eraser, copy books, inks, pens and pencils for sale, wholesale and retail at Sutherland's bookstore.

Something new in fine dress shirts, the Regatta and the University. Don't fail to see them at Fitcher's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

Two first-class homes in the suburbs, each having ten acres of choice land, for sale at a bargain by C. E. Bowles.

For Sale—Fourteen acres of choice land in 3d ward if applied for at once. For information address W. L. Downing & Co.

For Sale—100 acres of choice farming land in Kingsbury county, Dakota, located 1 1/2 miles from the town of Troquois on the O. & N. W. M. R.

WHEELER & STEVENS.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's. I will sell two stores in Chicago's block, and 44 feet on River street, adjoining engine house, at a price that will insure an income of 12 per cent. to the purchaser. C. E. Bowles.

$5000 to loan, in sums to suit. Apply to C. E. Bowles.

Edwards' Balm et Life is sold by Palmer & Stevens. Trial bottle free.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's. A complete assortment of Zephyr Worsteds, Crochets and other embroidery materials, New York Saving Store.

Toilet soaps at Eldredge's.

The greatest variety of buggies and lumber wagons to be found in this city at S. L. James', and can be found for the least money.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

WANTED—A girl to do general housework. Apply at Gazette office.

Nicest line of straw goods in the city at Foote & Wilcox's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

For Rent.

The H. A. Doty feed mill will be for rent the first of September next. Inquire of Ed. F. Carpenter.

Dated Aug. 16, 1884.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

The place to get good stove cheap is at Sander & Canfield's, 68 North Main street. Take a look at them.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

Butterick Patterns and Delmonsters for September opened to-day at McKay Bros.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

Go to Foote & Wilcox's for nobby neck wear.

An elegant line of all kind of driving gloves at Fitcher's.

All the school books in use in our city schools, and throughout Rock county, for sale at Sutherland's book store.

Blaine and Cleveland hats in fur, something new, at Fitcher's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

The new Scaresaker shirt for railroad men has arrived. For sale at Fitcher's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

For Rent—A desirable house convenient for a small family, with good well cistern and stable. Enquire at 40 South high street.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

BRIEFMENTS.

—Good Templars' night.

—No criminal business in the municipal court to-day.

—There is some talk of the Blaine and Logan Invincibles going to Madison next week, to attend a republican rally.

—Miss Mary R. Gadden, of Meadville Theological school, will occupy the pulpit in All Souls church, Sunday morning, Aug. 31st.

—Mr. Joseph Baker, of the drug firm of Stearns & Baker, is moving his family into their new residence on High street, first ward, to-day.

—The Bower City band was the favorite in Rockford last evening. The Bower City band generally captures the crowd when good music is called for.

—The gamblers in Milwaukee are making the Detroit Greys the favorite company on drill at the military encampment, and are offering odds on that company winning the first prize.

—Mr. R. W. King has received a large lot of school supplies, among them being a full stock of new readers of all grades. The readers are among the finest illustrated books now published.

—Conductor Whitney, on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway, has been laid off for some time by reason of illness, and is now suffering from paralysis of one of his limbs. Conductor Frank Wood has taken his run.

—The lecture on "Education, as directed to be delivered by Rev. Father McGinnity, at St. Patrick's church, last Sunday evening, and which was postponed on account of the weather, will be given next Sunday evening.

—Dr. F. M. Hawley, of Cleveland, Ohio, has opened an office in Norcross' new block, and expects to make Janesville his permanent home. Dr. Hawley has associated with him Mrs. Mary W. Hawley, who will give special attention to the diseases of women and children.

—Their residence is on North First street, near the Catholic church. See their card, in another column.

—Mr. Wm. Bocho and Mr. C. Brown, the East Milwaukee street brewers, discovered a large milk near the post office last evening, and in endeavoring to capture the animal it took refuge in the post office, where Mr. Bocho crippled it in such a manner that a dog, of domestic proclivities, soon put an end to its existence.

—On their return trip from Rockford last night, the "headquarter car" was the scene of one continued uproar from the moment the conductor yelled "all aboard," until the occupants left the car in this city. Music, singing, hip, hip, hurrahs, and gymnastic performances served to keep the car in a continual boom.

Some of the singing was excellent, but when it comes to a bass and tenor drum accompaniment, in a closed car, running at a high rate of speed, we had rather be excused. The melodious notes of the nightingale could not be compared with this melody emanating from the above car. The boys were right lively.

—A good joke was played on an east side saloon keeper to-day by a couple of saloon men on the west side. The west side men visited an east side saloon, the proprietor of which is a republican. Both visitors were strong Cleveland men, one of whom supports a Cleveland or Tammany hat, we don't know which, and suggested to the republican that if he would chip in fifty cents, he (the democrat) would put in two dollars and buy a similar hat for his west side companion. The fifty cents was handed to the latest democrat, followed by two dollars from the other fellow. They took a drink at the expense of the republican, and then departed. The two dollars was given back to the democrat saloon keeper of the west side, and the republican fifty cents went around the corner. When it leaked out—there was a lecture on the manner in which the democrats would run the government in case they should succeed in electing Hendricks and Cleveland.

County Convention.

The republican county convention, to nominate candidates for county officers, will convene at the court house at 12 o'clock, noon, to-morrow. The indications are that a sharp contest will be had over several of the important offices, yet the best of feeling exists among the different candidates. The delegates from this city will be as follows:

First Ward—Messrs. N. O. Clark, J. P. Crosssett, S. Hayner, J. W. Nash, W. F. Cario.

Second Ward—Messrs. I. C. Rowland, S. C. Barnham, Jessé Miles, O. P. Nowlan.

Third Ward—Messrs. S. Eldredge, Charles H. Lee, T. F. Murray, James A. Patters.

Fourth Ward—Messrs. A. H. Sheldon, M. H. Curtis, J. A. Webb, S. C. Cobb, C. N. Ritter.

Fifth Ward—Messrs. Richard O'Donnell, James A. Sutherland.

The city has twenty votes in the convention, which is composed of seventy-seven members, requiring thirty-nine votes to secure a prize.

Rev. H. S. Stevens, 102 Eighth street, N. E. Washington, D. C., will speak under date of February 7th, 1885, "Last summer, when pastor of a church at Cromwell, Conn., I obtained two bottles of Atliophora for trial by a gentleman who has been subject to prostrated and very severe attacks of rheumatism. He tells me that the effect of the medicine has been marvelous. It has brought him out every time, and now he keeps the article on hand, and resorts to it as upon any recurring symptoms of his pain."

The Weather.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer registered 65 degrees above zero. Cloudy, with east wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 73 degrees above zero. Cloudy with north wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago, the register was 61 and 60 degrees above zero.

Nixon de L'Ereles.

The celebrated French beauty, enthralled hearts at the age of seventy. She took care of her teeth. She ought to have been a dentist.

Any woman whose table lacks it would procure SOZODONT and use it regularly. Her mirror will soon reflect a row of teeth shining like pearls of the Orient in beauty, making a charming contrast with the vermilion tint of the lips. No tooth-wash equals it.

Closing out sale of fur goods, trunks, suitcases, jewelry and jet goods at Mrs. Sador's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

New assortment of combs, tooth brushes, toilet soaps and face powders, at Palmer & Stevens' drugstore.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

For Rent—A desirable house convenient for a small family, with good well cistern and stable. Enquire at 40 South high street.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

Hair, tooth and nail brushes, at Eldredge's.

"Turner's Wonder," at Eldredge's.

Summer hats at greatly reduced prices at J. L. Ford's, West Milwaukee street.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

AT ROCKFORD.

The Grand Republican Rally and Torch Light Procession.

There was an immense republican rally in Rockford yesterday night, the occasion being a visit to that beautiful city of General John A. Logan, the republican candidate for vice president, Richard J. Oglesby republican candidate for governor of Illinois, and other notable "speakers." Many Janesville people visited Rockford in the afternoon, for the purpose of hearing General Logan and Governor Oglesby speak. The speeches were made on the fair ground, and it is said that Rockford never before beheld such an outpouring of republicans. A former Janesville lady, now residing in Rockford, said to us: "There were acres of 'em, and they were packed like sardines in a box."

In the evening there was another immense jam in the streets, to witness the torch light procession, which was a magnificent spectacle. Companies A and B, of the Janesville Blaine and Logan Invincibles, under the command of Captain Frank N. Webster, left the city on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road at 6 p. m.; at Beloit they were joined by the Beloit club company A and B, under the command of Colonel Chas. Ingersoll, and arrived in Rockford a few minutes before eight o'clock. The Bower City Band accompanied the Janesville battalion, and the Beloit band that from Beloit, at Rockford the Janesville and Beloit battalions were received by a company of torch bearers under command of Captain J. A. Leland, and escorted to the Hotel house, where the procession of the evening was formed.

There were between four and five hundred torches in the line, and three bands of music. After parading the streets a short time the line reached the west side park, where a display of fireworks was had, and the speaking took place. General Logan was introduced to the vast multitude as the "big fish" of the "sucker" state, who bravely returned his greetings to the people of the Rock river valley. He did not allude to political questions. He was followed by General J. C. Smith, candidate for state treasurer, and other members of the sucker species. The crowd at the park was a regular jam, not one eighth of the people present could get near enough to the stand to hear the speakers. The rally was a grand one and all were pleased with its success.

The Janesville battalion, headed by the Bower City band, discharging beautiful music along the entire route of the parade, made a splendid show, and they were frequently applauded and cheered as they marched by public places and private residences. The members of the battalion feel well pleased over their visit to the Forest City and the splendid show they made.

The Janesville party returned home at one o'clock, the land playing as the battalion marched down Milwaukee street from the depot to their armory on River street.

General James Mallory, of the state board of control, is in the city to-day.

Miss Mary Moxon, of Marshall, Minnesota, is visiting in the city, the guest of Miss Emma Russell.

Judge J. B. Cassaday, of the state supreme court, is in the city to-day, enroute for Chicago.

Miss Ella A. Cross, who has been spending the summer in this city, started for her home in Lansing, Michigan, to-day.

Mr. Oscar Cobb, Mrs. Cobb and son, Mrs. L. W. Torney and Master Grover Bergen, of Chicago, are visiting their cousin, Mrs. A. H. Shecky, of the fifth ward.

Mr. E. B. Heinstreet, of this city, secretary of the State board of pharmacy, is in Milwaukee attending the annual meeting of the American Pharmaceutical association.

Miss Celia A. Neal, daughter of Captain and Mrs. John Neal, went to Fond du Lac this afternoon to assume the position of teacher in the Fond du Lac public schools.

Captain John Neal, of this city, who is now engaged in the West Indian merchant trade, arrived home this afternoon having had a cruise in New York a few days ago.

Mr. Edward Parritt, short-hand reporter of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, was in this city today the guest of Mr. B. G. Henshaw. Mr. Parritt came all the way from St. Louis to report the speeches of Governor Oglesby and General Logan at Rockford last night for the Globe-Democrat.

Albert C. Davies, and his mother, Mrs. E. H. Davies, started yesterday for Annapolis, Maryland. Mr. Davies was recently appointed a cadet in the United States naval academy at Annapolis, where he is to report on the first of September for examination. On his return home, Mrs. Davies will visit relatives and friends in York state for a short time. The many friends of Mr. Davies in Janesville will wish him the best of success in the naval school, which he enters with full confidence and a determination to succeed.

Lieut. L. T. Nichols has just returned from an extended business trip through the west in the interests of the J. L. Clark buggy company of Ashland, Mo. He reports the western country in a most prosperous condition and found a liberal demand for the celebrated Ashland buggies. Lieut. Nichols will be remembered as an old resident of Janesville. The J. L. Clark goods are being handled in our city by Mr. C. J. Bliss & Son at their commodious repository in Norcross' block on River street; they make a very fine display of carriages and buggies and are enjoying a liberal trade. The J. L. Clark Co. are fast winning their way to the front as manufacturers of nothing but first class goods, and their trade is rapidly increasing. Lieut. Nichols will spend a day or two with old friends in the city.

The Best Fruit of Medical Science.

Dyspepsia, immediately relieved by Benson's Caprine Porous Plaster. Quick acting, highly medicinal.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

A fine all wool braided Jersey sock at $1.50—the best for the price we have ever had. New York Saving Store.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

"Bozenta" at Prentice & Evenson's.

COLONEL W. B. BRITTON.

Sketch of an Army Officer Who Still Loves the Muskets and Sword.

Colonel W. B. Britton, of this city, is just now receiving ably complimentary notices from the state press, all of which are well deserved. Colonel Britton has the honor of being the senior colonel in the state, and is the first to be in command of a full regiment of the state militia. The colonel's Janesville friends will read the following compliments with interest:

(From the Milwaukee Sentinel.)

Colonel W. B. Britton, of the First regiment, passed forty years and two months of his 50 years of life in the late war. For many years his home has been, as at present, in Janesville, and from that place he enlisted for war service July 22, 1861, as a private. He was assigned to Co. G, Eighth regiment, and was immediately elected and commissioned captain thereof. He left for the front July 22, 1861, and nine days later, October 21, participated in the battle of Fredericksburg. During the war he was assigned to the Western army, at various times being under the commands of Generals Sherman, Grant and Meade, and was respectively. During the Southwestern campaign Colonel Britton was in the midst of many decisive battles, aside from scores of skirmishes, among them being the siege of Island No. 10, battle of Corinth, battle of Vicksburg, and the battle of Gettysburg, 1862, others such as the battle of Vicksburg, and movements in that vicinity, and a second battle of Corinth, and all the battles of the Red river campaign with General Smith, they being forty days under fire. He was also with General Smith through the famous Missouri river expedition, at the battle of Nashville, siege and capture of Mobile, and many other campaigns of less importance. Mr. Britton's promotion from a captain was gradual and deserved. In 1862 he was commissioned as major of his regiment, in 1864 lieutenant-colonel, and in 1865 colonel. He was mustered out of service Sept. 12, 1865. Considerable time he spent in the army, through which Colonel Britton passed, and his constant presence at the post of duty is a slight fact that the only service received by him was a slight wound in the right ear. At the time he received this wound, he was in the line of battle, and was taken to a hospital, where he remained for some time. He was reported wounded, and the word came to Janesville that he had received a mortal wound, causing intense excitement among his thousands of friends in Southern Wisconsin. He did not allow himself to leave his regiment on account of this wound, however, and in fact his regiment was never in battle or over marched six miles when Colonel Britton was not present. At the close of the war he returned to his home in Janesville, and was again taken to a hospital, where he remained for some time. He was reported wounded, and the word came to Janesville that he had received a mortal wound, causing intense excitement among his thousands of friends in Southern Wisconsin. He did not allow himself to leave his regiment on account of this wound, however, and in fact his regiment was never in battle or over marched six miles when Colonel Britton was not present. At the close of the war he returned to his home in Janesville, and was again taken to a hospital, where he remained for some time. He was reported wounded, and the word came to Janesville that he had received a mortal wound, causing intense excitement among his thousands of friends in Southern Wisconsin. He did not allow himself to leave his regiment on account of this wound, however, and in fact his regiment was never in battle or over marched six miles when Colonel Britton was not present. At the close of the war he returned to his home in Janesville, and was again taken to a hospital, where he remained for some time. He was reported wounded, and the word came to Janesville that he had received a mortal wound, causing intense excitement among his thousands of friends in Southern Wisconsin. He did not allow himself to leave his regiment on account of this wound, however, and in fact his regiment was never in battle or over marched six miles when Colonel Britton was not present. At the close of the war he returned to his home in Janesville, and was again taken to a hospital, where he remained for some time. He was reported wounded, and the word came to Janesville that he had received a mortal wound, causing intense excitement among his thousands of friends in Southern Wisconsin. He did not allow himself to leave his regiment on account of this wound, however, and in fact his regiment was never in battle or over marched six miles when Colonel Britton was not present. At the close of the war he returned to his home in Janesville, and was again taken to a hospital, where he remained for some time. He was reported wounded, and the word came to Janesville that he had received a mortal wound, causing intense excitement among his thousands of friends in Southern Wisconsin. He did not allow himself to leave his regiment on account of this wound, however, and in fact his regiment was never in battle or over marched six miles when Colonel Britton was not present. At the close of the war he returned to his home in Janesville, and was again taken to a hospital, where he remained for some time. He was reported wounded, and the word came to Janesville that he had received a mortal wound, causing intense excitement among his thousands of friends in Southern Wisconsin. He did not allow himself to leave his regiment on account of this wound, however, and in fact his regiment was never in battle or over marched six miles when Colonel Britton was not present. At the close of the war he returned to his home in Janesville, and was again taken to a hospital, where he remained for some time. He was reported wounded, and the word came to Janesville that he had received a mortal wound, causing intense excitement among his thousands of friends in Southern Wisconsin. He did not allow himself to leave his regiment on account of this wound, however, and in fact his regiment was never in battle or over marched six miles when Colonel Britton was not present. At the close of the war he returned to his home in Janesville, and was again taken to a hospital, where he remained for some time. He was reported wounded, and the word came to Janesville that he had received a mortal wound, causing intense excitement among his thousands of friends in Southern Wisconsin. He did not allow himself to leave his regiment on account of this wound, however, and in fact his regiment was never in battle or over marched six miles when Colonel Britton was not present. At the close of the war he returned to his home in Janesville, and was again taken to a hospital, where he remained for some time. He was reported wounded, and the word came to Janesville that he had received a mortal wound, causing intense excitement among his thousands of friends in Southern Wisconsin. He did not allow himself to leave his regiment on account of this wound, however, and in fact his regiment was never in battle or over marched six miles when Colonel Britton was not present. At the close of the war he returned to his home in Janesville, and was again taken to a hospital, where he remained for some time. He was reported wounded, and the word came to Janesville that he had received a mortal wound, causing intense excitement among his thousands of friends in Southern Wisconsin. He did not allow himself to leave his regiment on account of this wound, however, and in fact his regiment was never in battle or over marched six miles when Colonel Britton was not present. At the close of the war he returned to his home in Janesville, and was again taken to a hospital, where he remained for some time. He was reported wounded, and the word came to Janesville that he had received a mortal wound, causing intense excitement among his thousands of friends in Southern Wisconsin. He did not allow himself to leave his regiment on account of this wound, however, and in fact his regiment was never in battle or over marched six miles when Colonel Britton was not present. At the close of the war he returned to his home in Janesville, and was again taken to a hospital, where he remained for some time. He was reported wounded, and the word came to Janesville that he had received a mortal wound, causing intense excitement among his thousands of friends in Southern Wisconsin. He did not allow himself to leave his regiment on account of this wound, however, and in fact his regiment was never in battle or over marched six miles when Colonel Britton was not present. At the close of the war he returned to his home in Janesville, and was again taken to a hospital, where he remained for some time. He was reported wounded, and the word came to Janesville that he had received a mortal wound, causing intense excitement among his thousands of friends in Southern Wisconsin. He did not allow himself to leave his regiment on account of this wound, however, and in fact his regiment was never in battle or over marched six miles when Colonel Britton was not present. At the close of the war he returned to his home in Janesville, and was again taken to a hospital, where he remained for some time. He was reported wounded, and the word came to Janesville that he had received a mortal wound, causing intense excitement among his thousands of friends in Southern Wisconsin. He did not allow himself to leave his regiment on account of this wound, however, and in fact his regiment was never in battle or over marched six miles when Colonel Britton was not present. At the close of the war he returned to his home in Janesville, and was again taken to a hospital, where he remained for some time. He was reported wounded, and the word came to Janesville that he had received a mortal wound, causing intense excitement among his thousands of friends in Southern Wisconsin. He did not allow himself to leave his regiment on account of this wound, however, and in fact his regiment was never in battle or over marched six miles when Colonel Britton was not present. At the close of the war he returned to his home in Janesville, and was again taken to a hospital, where he remained for some time. He was reported wounded, and the word came to Janesville that he had received a mortal wound, causing intense excitement among his thousands of friends in Southern Wisconsin. He did not allow himself to leave his regiment on account of this wound, however, and in fact his regiment was never in battle or over marched six miles when Colonel Britton was not present. At the close of the war he returned to his home in Janesville, and was again taken to a hospital, where he remained for some time. He was reported wounded, and the word came to Janesville that he had received a mortal wound, causing intense excitement among his thousands of friends in Southern Wisconsin. He did not allow himself to leave his regiment on account of this wound, however, and in fact his regiment was never in battle or over marched six miles when Colonel Britton was not present. At the close of the war he returned to his home in Janesville, and was again taken to a hospital, where he remained for some time. He was reported wounded, and the word came to Janesville that he had received a mortal wound, causing intense excitement among his thousands of friends in Southern Wisconsin. He did not allow himself to leave his regiment on account of this wound, however, and in fact his regiment was never in battle or over marched six miles when Colonel Britton was not present. At the close of the war he returned to his home in Janesville, and was again taken to a hospital, where he remained for some time. He was reported wounded, and the word came to Janesville that he had received a mortal wound, causing intense excitement among his thousands of friends in Southern Wisconsin. He did not allow himself to leave his regiment on account of this wound, however, and in fact his regiment was never in battle or over marched six miles when Colonel Britton was not present. At the close of the war he returned to his home in Janesville, and was again taken to a hospital, where he remained for some time. He was reported wounded, and the word came to Janesville that he had received a mortal wound, causing intense excitement among his thousands of friends in Southern Wisconsin. He did not allow himself to leave his regiment on account of this wound, however, and in fact his regiment was never in battle or over marched six miles when Colonel Britton was not present. At the close of the war he returned to his home in Janesville, and was again taken to a hospital, where he remained for some time. He was reported wounded, and the word came to Janesville that he had received a mortal wound, causing intense excitement among his thousands of friends in Southern Wisconsin. He did not allow himself to leave his regiment on account of this wound, however, and in fact his regiment was never in battle or over marched six miles when Colonel Britton was not present. At the close of the war he returned to his home in Janesville, and was again taken to a hospital, where he remained for some time. He was reported wounded, and the word came to Janesville that he had received a mortal wound, causing intense excitement among his thousands of friends in Southern Wisconsin. He did not allow himself to leave his regiment on account of this wound, however, and in fact his regiment was never in battle or over marched six miles when Colonel Britton was not present. At the close of the war he returned to his home in Janesville, and was again taken to a hospital, where he remained for some time. He was reported wounded, and the word came to Janesville that he had received a mortal wound, causing intense excitement among his thousands of friends in Southern Wisconsin. He did not allow himself to leave his regiment on account of this wound, however, and in fact his regiment was never in battle or over marched six miles when Colonel Britton was not present. At the close of the war he returned to his home in Janesville, and was again taken to a hospital, where he remained for some time. He was reported wounded, and the word came to Janesville that he had received a mortal wound, causing intense excitement among his thousands of friends in Southern Wisconsin. He did not allow himself to leave his regiment on account of this wound, however, and in fact his regiment was never in battle or over marched six miles when Colonel Britton was not present. At the close of the war he returned to his home in Janesville, and was again taken to a hospital, where he remained for some time. He was reported wounded, and the word came to Janesville that he had received a mortal wound, causing intense excitement among his thousands of friends in Southern Wisconsin. He did not allow himself to leave his regiment on account of this wound, however, and in fact his regiment was never in battle or over marched six miles when Colonel Britton was not present. At the close of the war he returned to his home in Janesville, and was again taken to a hospital, where he remained for some time. He was reported wounded, and the word came to Janesville that he had received a mortal wound